Presentation	Xylazine-Emerging Trend in the Drug Supply Xylazine is showing up in the drug supply locally. The Partnership review a 15-minute webinar regarding this drug. The drug is used in veterinary practice as a sedative for surgery. This drug decreases heart rate and will not respond to NARCAN. The information provided indicated the drug may have some contributing factors to increase overdose especially since it is being cut into fentanyl. Some of the side effects of the drug is skin lesions that do require medical attention. Some of the perception around this drug being cut into the illicit drug supply is that can extend the effects of the drug. We are seeing it appear in the Blair overdose death toxicology reports.
